

2019 New Investigators Workshop

Organizer: Judith Jacobson, DrPH, Columbia University

The 43rd Annual Meeting of the American Society of Preventive Oncology will be held at the Hilton Downtown, Tampa, Florida, March 10-12, 2019. The New Investigators Workshop, first held in 1993, is an opportunity for pre- and postdoctoral trainees to meet with nationally recognized leaders in the field of preventive oncology, and to present their research for discussion and constructive criticism. The research may be completed work, work in progress, or ideas in the planning stages.

The workshop will take place Sunday, March 10, 2019, 9:00AM – 12:00PM. Faculty for the workshop will be announced at a later date.

Applications are invited from pre- and post-doctoral trainees at any recognized institution. Applicants must not have participated in this particular workshop in the past.

There is no application form. To apply, please submit the following:

1. A face sheet listing: a) Your (applicant's) name, department, institution, mailing address, and email address; b) The name, title, and email address of your sponsor (the principal investigator or mentor with whom you are working, who need not be an ASPO member); c) The title of your research project
2. A 1-2 page description of your research project;
3. Your curriculum vitae

Please submit items 1-3 as a single PDF document, via e-mail, to: jsj4@columbia.edu.

The application deadline is 6:00 pm EST, Monday, November 19, 2018.

If you have questions about the workshop, please contact Dr. Judith Jacobson jsj4@columbia.edu, 212-305-2502, or Skype jsjacobson.

Successful applicants will be notified by mid-January 2019. They will also receive:

- A waiver of the registration fee for the ASPO meeting (a $395 value)
